

For anyone who I've not managed to contact by phone, tonight's training session has been cancelled. Unfortunately there has been a problem with the refrigeration plant at the rink which caused a partial loss of the ice pad this afternoon. Although the ice is now recovering it will not be fit for ice hockey this evening. For anyone that fancies a trip to Blackburn tonight, The Rev has kindly offered to allow any Phantoms players needing their hockey fix to join in the Aardvarx session. Their session starts at 11.15pm and costs £7.00 per person. Sorry for any inconvenience, see you all next week.
